Library Extends Its Hours

Beginning this week, Seaside's Emerson Branch of the Monterey County Library will be open three nights a week and Saturday until 6 p.m. This increases the number of open hours a week from 40 to 63, says Dorothy Carnie, librarian. The library is open now from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Located on the lower floor of the Monterey Bay Grange Hall at 1500 Imperial Street, the library may be used by any resident of Monterey County whose home is outside the city limits of Monterey. As a branch of the Monterey County Library, the Emerson Library is part of the Monterey Bay Area Cooperative Library System (MOBAC). Its cardholders may use any member library. These include, in addition to the Monterey County Library, the public libraries of Carmel, Pacific Grove, Salinas, Watsonville and Santa Cruz. A book not available in one library can be borrowed on intralibrary loan from any one of the others and daily courier service brings special requests. For books not available within the two counties, the MOBAC system has TWX contact with the State Library in Sacramento.

A further service through the MOBAC system is an intensive reference service provided by the Bay Area Reference Center located in the San Francisco Public Library. There a trained staff will search books and periodicals in the Bay Area and will also contact experts in various fields to obtain answers to specific questions or material on topics of interest to library patrons.

Some Adult Classes Are Still Open

Monterey Adult School has announced that it is still accepting registration in some of its classes. Included in the open classes are crafts, batik and women's physical fitness.

The crafts class, which meets Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Seaside High School, offers individualized instruction in cast and handwrought jewelry, leather work, handbuilt and wheel-thrown pottery, weaving, metal, clay, wood and stone sculpture, candlemaking, decoupage, macrame and other crafts.

Students Take On Smoking Law

Two Seaside High School students are organizing a campaign for legislation that would give local school boards authority to regulate—or not to regulate—smoking on high school campuses.

The students, Jim Summers and George Leinen, have enlisted the support of students at eight area high schools and hope to get help from more.

The students will be circulating petitions and talking with community groups. They plan, if a significant number of signatures can be gathered, to seek an audience with Governor Ronald Reagan and various state legislators at the schools' Easter vacation in late March. March 3 has been set as the deadline for turning in petitions.

Summers said the campaign is being undertaken because he feels the current law which does not allow students to smoke on campus is unenforceable.

He said he does not smoke and is not encouraging young people to take up tobacco. "I'm opposed to it, but you can't stop it," he declared. He estimated that 45 percent of the students at Seaside High smoke—many of them on campus in violation of the law.

He also noted that while some students openly smoke on campus, others congregate in restrooms to light up. The latter habit often results in wastebasket fires and drains clogged with cigarette butts, he said.

The situation leaves school authorities in a dilemma. Although they are bound by law to try to apprehend student smokers and mete out disciplinary action (including suspension), many high school administrators admit to frustration because of the sheer numbers of smoking students. Complicating the problem is the fact that some students smoke at home within view of their parents and don't understand why they can't also smoke at school.

class meets every Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m. in Room 12 on Monterey High School's lower campus.

The women's physical fitness class, featuring Yoga, calisthenics, jogging, swimming and volleyball is being offered at the Monterey High School Girls' Gym.

Held on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7 to 9:30 p.m., Pat Skinner, the instructor, says as part of the class, information will be offered to help women look and feel their best.

For information about these and other adult classes contact the adult school office at Monterey High School between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 649-7386.

MPC Is Developing New Approach to Typing

Monterey Peninsula College will receive $23,526 in Vocational Education Act funds for development of a new approach to teaching typing in the community college.

Ellen Bowers, an instructor in the business department at MPC, will work on the project which could radically change the methods used to teach typing in most schools.

Mrs. Bowers plans to develop a program of individualized, but students of varying abilities with different needs could receive instruction in one place at one time. This could increase utilization of typing classrooms.

"What we want is a program that will allow students to work on those units of material which they need for their particular goals," says Mrs. Bowers. "When a student has learned all that he needs to learn in typing, he can leave the class without having to work on units he has previously had in high school or which are of little value to him. He won't have to wait for the end of the semester."

Such a program places a great deal of responsibility on the student, explains Mrs. Bowers. The student, in consultation with the instructor, picks the units he will take during the semester. These may concentrate on one specialty and omit material from another area.

"Under a system of this type," says Mrs. Bowers, "there wouldn't be several different typing classes, just one. The specialty classes would consist of a sequence of units dealing with a particular area."

School Insurance Cancelled

The Insurance Company of North America has notified the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District that its insurance will be cancelled February 17.

Although no reason was provided in a letter received by the school district January 25, school officials speculate that the notice of cancellation was prompted by a January 15 fire that destroyed a classroom at Fitch Junior High School on Fort Ord.

The initial damage estimate on that fire was $35,000. Arson was suspected.

Superintendent Allan J. Petersdorf said he has arranged to meet with local insurance representatives to discuss the matter and to make provisions for insurance coverage on the schools.

The Insurance Company of North America has provided insurance coverage for Monterey schools since 1969. This year's premium totaled about $110,000 for coverage that included liability, fire and theft. The policy contained a $5,000 deductible clause.

The district's premium in 1970-71 was set at about $70,000 until it was increased to $87,000 following a fire at Hayes School on July 4, 1970. During that year, the company paid the district over $10,300 on vandalism claims plus about $59,000 for the Hayes fire.

Payment for damage from another fire at Fitch Junior High last May is still being computed.

Bill Will Insure Safe Conditions

Assemblyman Bob Wood has introduced a major bill designed to insure safe working conditions for farm workers in pesticide-treated areas.

The bill is a bi-partisan effort and was put together through the efforts of Assemblyman Wood and Assemblywoman March Fong (D-Oakland).

4 Chaplains Day Is Sunday

The Seaside American Legion Post 591 has announced that the annual "Four Chaplains Day" services will be held this Sunday, February 6, at the Protestant Chapel, United States Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey.

"Four Chaplains Day" commemorates the heroic, unselfish act of four U.S. Army chaplains who gave their lifelines to others and went to their deaths on the sinking troopship, USS Dorchester.

Seaside Post 591 is arranging the program for the sixth consecutive year as a feature of the religious emphasis program. All faiths will be represented at the service, with military and civilian participating together.

The Naval Postgraduate School Protestant Chapel is located on the main floor of Hermann Hall, formerly the Del Monte Hotel.

The legislation already has the support of the Department of Public Health and the Department of Agriculture, Wood said. "Both of these Departments have worked closely in the development of this legislation in trying to reach a solution to our pesticide health problems."

New Nursery School Officers Are Named

Members of the Peninsula Nursery School, operated under the auspices of the Monterey Adult School, have elected officers for the coming semester.

Mrs. Robert (Pam) Stephenson will be the new president of the co-operative nursery school. Mrs. Larry (Phyllis) Dufer was named vice president, Mrs. Charles (Judy) Boehmer, secretary and Mrs. Ted (Judy) Halling, treasurer.

The school, located at Del Monte Elementary School, 222 Casa Verde Way, Monterey, offers a pre-school environment for children from 2 1/2 years to kindergarten age. Two and three day sessions are offered with class hours from 9:15 to 11:45 a.m. The cost is $6 a month for the two-day group and $10 a month for the three-day group.

Mrs. Joseph Russell, school director, said parents participate at the school on a rotating basis, providing an opportunity to take part in their child's learning and develop new skills in child rearing.

The school is non-sectarian and inter-racial. Parents interested in enrolling their children can call Mrs. Bill (Donna) Lewellen, membership chairman, at 394-0685, or Mrs. Stephenson, at 384-9292.

Offers New Course

A special institute in optometric office procedures will be offered at Monterey Peninsula College during the 1972 spring semester.

The course is designed for those who are either now employed or who would like to become employed as optometric assistants. Topics in the institute will include principles of optometric office procedures

Vercoe Criticizes Nixon Programs

President Nixon's wage-price freeze is an unworkable mess, according to 12th District Congressional candidate Mel Vercoe of Monterey.

Speaking to an audience in Pacific Grove, Vercoe said, "Somebody in high office, perhaps Martha Mitchell, should demand that the President start telling the American people the truth about the wage-price freeze, which was never at any time intended or expected to control either wages or prices. The whole unworkable mess has just two purposes - to mislead the public into thinking the President is actually trying to control those items and to create enough confusion to divert attention from other crucial issues until after his reelection next November. I think our country has enough problems without continuing this deception any longer."

Asked about an increase in the national debt ceiling, Vercoe said, "Congress should deny the request. Almost a third of our whole 430 billion dollar public debt was incurred during the last eleven years, while we were spending 30 billion dollars to bring back some moon rocks and committing 200 billion to a senseless windmill-flailing crusade in Asia. Now we are supposed to borrow another 30 billion so we can continue the bombing to keep President Thieu in power and so we can let out contracts for a 10 to 15 billion dollar space shuttle and at the same time increase, not decrease, our military budget. This makes no sense to me, when we have millions of Americans living in substandard housing and we have a 6 percent unemployment rate, mostly among our unskilled, none of whom will get any help from either the moon rocks or the space shuttle or President Thieu. Just the interest alone on the national debt is over 70 million dollars per day, 7 days a week."

About the recent Supreme Court ruling on Congressional redistricting, the candidate said, "It is wrong that petty partisan politics should be allowed to control in any way such an important thing as equal representation, either in Washington or in Sacramento. The 12th Congressional District, for example, was apparently considered hopelessly lost to the Republican incumbent, which was the reason for transferring it to an isolated Republican section from a nearby hopefully Democratic district. This is unfair to the voters in both districts."

PT&T Ups Construction

Construction projects costing some $3,614,000 are slated for the Monterey Peninsula area by Pacific Telephone during 1972, according to PT&T Manager Don Boston.

Boston said the amount is part of PT&T's $888 million communications construction program in California this year. It is the largest dollar outlay of any utility in the state in a single year.

Major projects in Monterey include:

- * $877,000 at 401 Franklin Street, Monterey, for a basement, first and second floor additions for new local and long-distance switching equipment.
- * $184,000 at Franklin Street, Monterey, for 800 new lines for future growth.
- * $278,000 in Seaside for a building addition at the 1257 Broadway central office, 400 new lines for growth, new power equipment, and additional trunking facilities in the area.
- * $330,000 in Carmel for additional trunking jobs, undergrounding along the Coast Highway, Carmel Meadows and Carmel Highlands, plus new facilities for future growth.
- * $338,000 in Carmel Valley for undergrounding cable along Carmel Valley Road and numerous growth jobs.

The remaining dollars will be used for the purchase and installation of conduit, cables, switchboards, telephones and hundreds of other items needed to meet current and projected demands for service and to provide a first-class communications system on the Monterey Peninsula.

The number of telephones on the Peninsula has increased during 1971 from 69,900 to 72,500. An additional 2,800 telephones are expected to be installed locally this year.

"Providing good service demands this unprecedented construction program statewide," Boston said, "despite the fact that Pacific Telephone's 1971 earnings have not kept up with increased costs."

Boston said PT&T's 1972 statewide construction program is about $77 million more than was spent on a similar program last year.

(by Clint Porter)

"If our God has given to earth the art to nestle seed while the seed is seemingly dead, why shall He not give to the heart of man to breathe life into another heart, even a heart seemingly dead?"

--Kahlil Gibran

The entire staff of the SEASIDE POST - News Sentinel extends their thanks and appreciations for the many prayers and candles lit for the speedy recovery of our editor, Andy Barragan. At this writing we can thankfully say Mr. Barragan is still holding his own against unsurmountable odds. This brings to mind something else I read in the wonderful works of Gibran: "Sometimes it seems to me that He heard the murmuring pain of all things that grow in the sun, and that then He lifted them up and supported them, not only by His own knowledge, but also by disclosing to them their own power to rise and become whole."

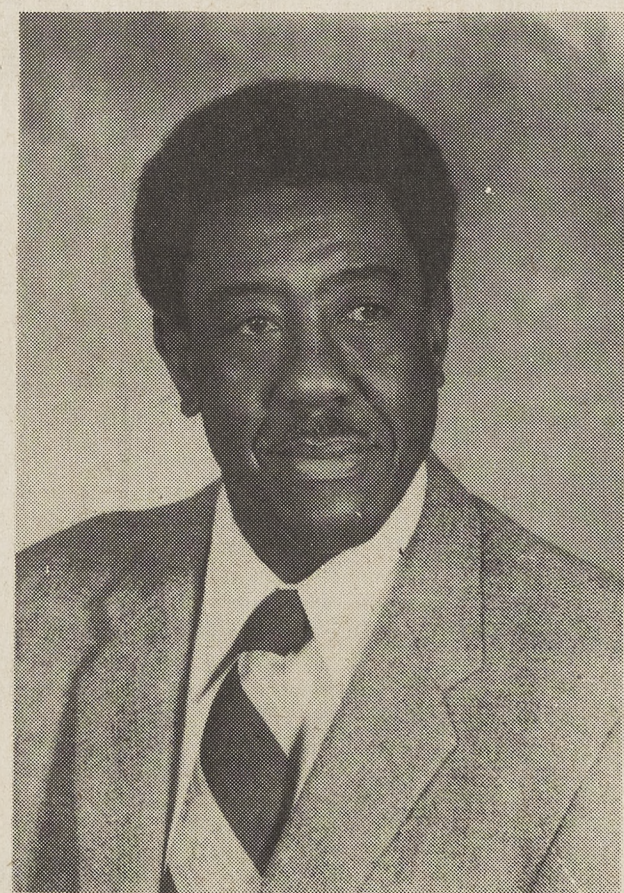

Last Sunday afternoon, after spending the entire morning in a very depressed state of mind, I decided to hop in my car and try to find laughter to at least even the score of emotions. I motored my way South on Highway #1. Feeling very sad and downhearted because of the many events that have happened recently, I had no goal in mind. Just to get away. I picked up two hitchhikers, hoping they would relate a story or at least give me something to smile about as we talked. They said they were trying to find a place a few miles south where there

Grooving Around the Peninsula

with BETTY MANN

Hi there fellow peninsulans.

The best news around the peninsula this week is that our boss, Andy (editor) Barrigan, is off the critical list, as I knew that he would be. Andy comes from good and sturdy stock. It just goes to show that you can't keep a good man down. Right on to you Andy!

I thought that you might like to know that I am now employed by the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District as a Counseling Assistant at King Jr. High School. This week I have been exposed to the problems that exist in our schools. Many of these could be improved and eliminated with the help of interested parents and the community, in general. Educational workshops for parents and teachers are constantly being held to improve the quality of education for all of our students. One such workshop that I attended as an E.S.E.A. representative was the Monterey Peninsula Regional Workshop for Title I Parent Advisory Committees. This interesting workshop was held at Alisal High School in Salinas under the direction of Mrs. Charlie Knight, Director of Special Projects, MPUSD.

George Perry, who is the coordinator of E.S.E.A. Title I Schools in the Berkeley Unified School District, opened the meeting by emphasizing the need for parent involvement, such as parent advisory groups, in the school system. These groups would be composed of parents that have children under the E.S.E.A. program. Their main functions and responsibilities as members of the parent advisory group would be to insure that their children are receiving the best in remedial reading, math programs, and other subjects. He emphasized that it is also important for parents to be acquainted with the teachers that are instructing their children so that a working rapport between teacher and parent can be established. This would result in progress for the child.

Schools that are under this program in Seaside and utilizing this effective procedure for the betterment of their students are: King Junior High, Ord Terrace, Manzanita, Highland, Covell and Fremont.

Ron Temple, consultant from the State Department of Education, will speak at a community meeting and dinner at King Junior High in February. The date will be announced later. All parents in the community will be invited to attend, to join the parent advisory groups from their respective schools and to become involved in the educational progress of their children.

King Junior High, also, has recently welcomed a new vice-principal to its campus. Billy De Berry, former vice-principal of Monterey High School, is the new administrator at King. This "together" young man, along with the principal, Ken Dunbar, is really "getting it on." I predict in the future that these two gentlemen and the working staff of teachers at King will soon have a school that all graduates will look back with pride of having been a student there. Right on! King Junior High.

Don't forget, the City of Seaside Recreation Department is offering a selection of activities for the youths of Seaside at the Seaside Youth Center, 1185 Wheeler, Seaside.

Final Film Is Tomorrow

Wallis, features Humphrey Bogart and Ingrid Bergman in a tale about the flight of refugees from occupied Europe during World War II. Other stars which appear in this film are Peter Lorre and Sydney Greenstreet. It was awarded honors as best picture of the year and Bogart was nominated for an Academy Award on the basis of his performance in "Casablanca."

The fall Film Gallery series has been devoted to the works of Hal B. Wallis and his accomplishments as a producer. Admission to the program is $1.

Seaside Ripples

was a hot spring and were going swimming in it. I was invited to join them. It sounded like something that could possibly relieve me of my tensed feeling. Enroute, our conversation varied from "hippies" to "religion." But even this did not bring a feeling of laughter, or joy. It was just conversation between three people. We arrived at Nepenthe's on Highway #1 and decided to inquire from the parking lot attendant as to just where the place with the hot springs was located. We were informed that it was about five miles further South but there was an admission to enter, and that it was exceedingly expensive. I immediately informed the two hitchhikers I would spend some time at Nepenthe's and assured them that it would be no real hassle to get a ride farther South. I was thinking that perhaps there would be something here that could fill my heart with laughter, or even just contentment.

I browsed around the Phoenix, which is filled with artifacts and souvenirs, also a vast variety of books and novels. After purchasing some incense and a few small items I went up on the pavilion to have a snack. I didn't plan on this, but I shared my cheese, crackers, pickles, olives and lettuce with a child about 2 years of age. He came pu from nowhere and just started eating. We talked small talk as he ate all of the pickles and most of the crackers. When it was all finished he disappeared back into hiding. Probably awaiting some one else to share their snack.

After spending the entire afternoon at Nepenthe's I still had not really found anything to cheer me up, or even make me feel better. I left and headed back North, in the direction from which I came. Halfway back home the sun was setting over the Pacific. I pulled in to one of the many off-the-road view spots. It was beautiful. In fact it was a perfect sunset. The sun gently slipped into the middle of the ocean and left only it's rays in the sky to remind you that it was a nice day. After watching the sunset, I was relieved of my depressed state of mind. But had found nothing to induce laughter.

After thinking my situation over, I came to the logical conclusion that it really wasn't laughter itself that I was seeking. It was a release from the tension that has been building up over the past few days. So as soon as I put everything in it's proper perspective, I smiled. You see laughter is the channel of least resistance for the liberated nerve force. Anyone or anything can induce laughter. If a violinist snaps a string while playing Schubert's Fantasy in C-Major mostly everybody will laugh (except the musician, of course). Or if you suddenly see someone slip on a banana skin. Laughter. But it only lasts for a few seconds and does not eliminate your previous feeling entirely. Only momentarily.

Now it seems that I spent an entire afternoon looking for something that would last only a brief moment (laughter), while all the time, if I had only been thinking, I knew it was the simplest, and most spontaneous reflex of the human body. Example:

.....And what could be moister
Than tears from an oyster?

As I See It

By Mel Vercoe

As the scene opens today we find John Mitchell seated in the tiny living room of their modest apartment in Washington, D.C. John is studying a travel folder map of South America. Martha is coming out of the bathroom carrying a telephone book and a telephone.

"What are you doing, John?"

"Nothing, Martha," says John, hurriedly trying to cover the map with a large McGovern campaign poster he had been using for a dart game target.

"John, please don't try to keep secrets from me. We've been married too long. There is something wrong, isn't there, John?"

"Yes, Martha, maybe that's it. We have been married a long time. No offense intended, of course. And things have been piling up. I dreamed about McGovern and Fullbright again last night. We were way out in the country with a flat tire and those two were pushing our spare tire over a cliff. How would you like to go to South America, Martha?"

"In the middle of winter? No thanks, and our phone bill would cause trouble. That reminds me, I was supposed to call Tom Wicker this morning. John, are you all right, John?"

"Yes, I'll be all right in a few minutes. Really, Martha, we've just got to get away."

"Is it the Ellsberg case, John? Why don't you just turn him loose and admit he did the right thing exposing all that deceit?"

"Martha, please don't talk like that. You know very well this apartment may be bugged for sound. Yes, Ellsberg is one of the reasons, and now some women's libber is going to challenge a law in Carmel, California, that says a woman can't take a bath in a business office. I suppose I'll have to fight the thing in the Supreme Court."

"Maybe I could just have her come here to take her bath, dear."

"You don't understand, honey. There's just too much pressure, and the Presidential election is making it worse. Taxes and unemployment are going up, crime will get worse, and now George Wallace is going to run as a Democrat and we've got to borrow another fifty billion dollars to last us until after the election."

"But John, everything will be all right. The voters don't care about the money, and besides, even George Wallace won't have a chance against Nixon. You can be Attorney General for another four years."

"That's what I'm afraid of, Martha, and anyway, it's summer in South America now. Pack your bags. Let's get out of here."

a variety of subjects are now being circulated to California citizens in order to qualify them for the June primary election ballot. Some will make the grade, many will fail and some which will make it shouldn't.

One of the most prominent of this year's crop of initiatives is the proposal by the Los Angeles County Assessor, Philip E. Watson, who had a similar tax reform measure before the people four years ago. His new one is changed slightly, but it is already gathering considerable opposition and support from a variety of groups throughout the state.

The most recent and pre-hasp prestigious group to come out against the Watson Amendment is the County Supervisors Association of California. The Supervisors expressed "deep concern" about the plan and urged local officials all over the State to study the proposal further before deciding for or against it.

On the other side of the fence, taxpayers associations and a number of county assessors have come out in favor of the measure.

The proposal would place a ceiling of $7 per $100 of assessed valuation on all property taxes. After checking with our local Assessor, I find that Monterey County's rate varies from $6.90 to as high as $11.90. It would shift local welfare and some school costs from the property tax to other taxes, raise the sales tax and boost taxes on insurance companies, banks and corporations, cigarettes, liquor and minerals.

Critics admit that there is a need for a form of property tax relief, but say the Watson Amendment would not do the job fully. They note it does not provide any way of reducing county services or replacing revenues lost to local government. They claim it would leave government underfunded by millions of dollars which would have to be made up by increases in other taxes or the establishment of new ones. They also claim it would be of great benefit to large landowners, private utilities and insurance companies but of less benefit to homeowners. We will probably be reading a great deal both pro and con on the Amendment in the next few months.

Answer to Despair Will Be Discussed

There is a sure way out of discouragement and despair, according to a public lecture to be held in Monterey, this Sunday, February 6, at 3 p.m.

Norman B. Holmes

Norman B. Holmes, C.S.B., a Christian Science lecturer and teacher from Chicago, will draw on his experience as a Chaplain in the United States Navy in explaining how discouragement and despair can be faced up to and overcome on a spiritual basis.

At the invitation of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Mr. Holmes will speak at the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

Esperanto Is Offered

A new credit course in Esperanto began recently at Pacific Grove Adult School, Pacific Grove. High 615 Sunset Drive, Room E5. Classes meet Wednesdays from 7-9:30 p.m. For information call 373-4551 Monday through Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. or call 372-3253 anytime.

Although Esperanto is a language without a country, it has speakers in 85 countries. Created to serve as a neutral instrument of international communication, Esperanto takes its word-roots from many national languages, so that many can be recognized at sight. Phonetic orthography, fixed stress, streamlined grammar reduced to 16 basic rules, with no exceptions or irregularities, enable a student to learn Esperanto to a level sufficient for communication in only a fraction of the time required to learn a national language.

Golf Central Is Now Open

A new reservations service for Peninsula golfers is now in operation according to Roger Larson, golf manager at Del Monte Properties Company.

The new service, advertised as Golf Central, is a central clearing house for play on the Company's three courses: Del Monte, Pebble Beach and Spyglass Hill.

"By calling Golf Central, the player can determine the availability of starting times on all three courses," Larson said. "Golf Central is designed to provide up-to-the-minute information at any time of the day."

All three courses are linked to the Golf Central office by a special intercom system. Both current and future availabilities are shown on a master control board, Larson said.

The new services will be in operation seven days a week and will handle reservations on a daily basis and up to a year in advance.

The Golf Central number is 625-1361.

Returns to Former Home

Fort Ord has seen Captain Antonette Hagey as a sixth grader and now as a public health nurse.

Antonette was in the sixth grade at Joseph W. Stilwell Elementary School at the time it was dedicated. Mrs. Stilwell presented a portrait of General Stilwell to the school and the sixth grade class chose Antonette to accept the photograph.

Now, 14 years later, Antonette is back at Ft. Ord. This time, she is a public health nurse in the Army.

Cpt. Hagey's father was a career soldier in the Army and was stationed here when Antonette was in the sixth grade. She said she remembers the dedication very clearly. "I remember that I was sort of frightened at being chosen by the class to do this, but when I got up on stage Mrs. Stilwell put me at ease. She hugged me and she seemed to understand that I was only a sixth grader, which was a nice thing."

As all service people do, the Hageys moved on. And Antonette's high school days found her attending Sorrowful Mother

JANUARY WEDDING

Paula Dannette Mitchell and Maurice Rodney Porter, were united in marriage on Saturday, January 8 in the Post Chapel at the Presidio of Monterey. Father Joe Watt officiated at the 5:30 p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mitchell of Seaside, wore a loor length white velvet gown featuring an empire waist and trumpet bell sleeves. The bodice and "V" neckline were trimmed in gold metallic material. Her waistline illusion veil was held in place by a white velvet headpiece, trimmed in matching gold material. The dress was designed and made by Maybelle Porter of Seaside. The bride carried a bouquet of white and pink carnations with baby breaths.

Bridesmaids were Debra Bassett of Seaside, a student at the University of North Dakota and Nora Olbrant of Fort Ord, who attends the University of Maryland. Both wore long lavender velvet gowns with purple velvet around their empire waists and "V" necklines. Each carried a long stem lavender rose. Marie Stewart of Salinas, who attends the University of California at Santa Barbara, was matron of honor. She wore the same styled dress as the bridesmaids, however, her's was in purple velvet, which was trimmed in lavender. She carried a bouquet of white and pink carnations.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Porter L. Baymon of Seaside, chose his brother, Porter Lenard Baymon of Oakland, to serve as best man. Ushers were Billy Harris of Seaside, who attends San Jose State College and the groom's cousin, Barry Furlow of Oakland.

The bride graduated from Seaside High School in 1968. She attended UCSB for three years, majoring in biological science. Her plans are to enter San Francisco State this fall, to continue her education.

The bridegroom, also a 1968 graduate of Seaside High School, attended Northrup Institute of Technology of Los Angeles. He will continue his education this fall at UCB. His major is philosophy.

A reception immediately following the wedding was held at Fergusson Hall Officers' Open Mess, Fort Ord. More than 150 guests enjoyed the scrumptious hors d'oeuvres, cocktails, champagne and dancing to the music, provided by the Bob Cardwell Trio.

The newlyweds spent a glorious honeymoon in Los Vegas, prior to making their first home in Monterey.

Offer New Program For Pre-Schoolers

Beginning with the spring semester, a third program for pre-school children will be offered by the Monterey Peninsula College Child Study Center.

An afternoon session for three and four-year olds will be held between 1:30 and 4 p.m. five days a week at the college's nursery school facility. While parent participation is an integral part of the other two programs conducted by the Child Study Center--the parent participation nursery school and the student child care cooperative--the purpose of the new afternoon program is to provide valuable educational experiences for the children and for students studying child development at MPC. College students will work with the pre-schoolers under the guidance of professionally trained teachers.

Tuition for the program is $30 per month, plus an initial registration fee of $5 for those who have not previously enrolled their children in nursery school programs at the college. Some scholarships are available.

According to Jacqueline Bachels, director of the nursery school education program at MPC, "A nursery school program provides a rich environment supportive and stimulating to the personal growth of each child."

She adds, "A nursery school gives a child a time, a place and the materials especially designed for him to discover how his world works; to explore the possibilities of sand and water; to build an airplane big enough for two with blocks and to discover what happens to red and yellow paint when they mix."

The nursery school also gives a child experience with people to broaden his understanding. He can do this by pretending to be the man who delivers the mail or puts out a fire; or by trying to understand what makes Johnny angry when someone snatches a way his hammer.

The nursery school experience also helps a child learn he is a likeable person and he learns to like himself.

The other programs previously initiated at the college will continue. The parent participation nursery school, under the supervision of Ruth Hawkins, gives students in the college's child guidance class practical experience with young children. The membership of this nursery class is limited to those children whose parents are enrolled in the child guidance class. The child care cooperative is for MPC students' children while parents are attending classes

Register Now For Jazz Dance Class

Registrations are now being accepted for an intermediate modern jazz dance workshop sponsored by Monterey Peninsula College.

The workshop, which will meet Tuesdays from 7-9 p.m. from February 15 through April 25, will be limited to 25 participants.

The workshop leader will be Tami Crowley, a graduate of UCLA in dance and an experienced professional dancer and choreographer. She has danced in Las Vegas in the Lido de Paris show and was assistant choreographer to Al Gossen in preparing shows for Sheraton Hotels and the International Hotel. During Peace Corps service in the West Indies, she set up dance programs and choreographed dances for an annual carnival.

The focus of the workshop will be to present a basic technique for the classic jazz style. Form and style will be emphasized. Each class uses a sequential series of exercises through which the student develops strength and control of movement. Each student will have opportunity to concentrate on fluidity of movement by performing a dance at the end of each exercise.

Anyone with basic background in ballet or modern dance should have an adequate preparation for the workshop.

Learn Interior Design

If you've been wondering how to go about redecorating that den or putting a little color into your kitchen, you may be interested in the interior design workshop to be offered by Monterey Peninsula College.

Designed for beginners with home redecoration plans, the workshop will focus on the how-to-do-it aspects of selecting wallpaper, fabrics, floor coverings and furniture.

The class will meet in the MPC Home Economics sewing room Tuesdays from 7:30 - 10:30 p.m. The workshop will run from February 8 through May 2. Enrollment will be limited to 20 persons. A $25 registration fee will be charged. Information about registration may be obtained by calling MPC Community Services, 375-9821, extension 335.

according to Miss Crowley. A $10 registration fee will be charged. Registration information may be obtained from MPC Community Services, 375-9821, extension 335.

POOR OLD JOE'S BACK

A Real Seal Saga

By Marilyn Wright

Just off Point Lobos' seaward side
On the rocks near the shores where the seals abide,
Lived a family named Seymour - a most worthy clan -
A mother and Father and Son seal named Sam.

The season arrived when as nature decreed,
Sam Seymour should solve his connubial need.
So his parents selected - as some parents do -
The sort of a seal they said Sam should woo.

The daughter of friends was his parents selection,
And all Harbor Seals said the match was perfection.
A sleek little - meek little - bleak seal, named Sal,
Who Sam thought of - as sort of - a Sis or a Pal.

When suddenly swimming from down Highlands way,
A stranger named Stella appeared in the Bay.
Sam's senses certainly started to reel,
For Stella was simply a stupendous seal.

She'd the slightest suggestion of sway to her rear,
On each side of her head was a shell of an ear.
It was love at first sight and the young Seymour lad
Hurried to speak to his Mother and Dad.

"I'm sorry, my Son, and my sorrow is great,
But you simply must find a more suitable mate.
The match just won't work - and there's no use in try'n
For you are a Seal - and she's a Sea Lion!"

Sam was a sorrowful seal that day,
He even shed tears in his own special way.
So Stella, observing her young lover's woe,
Spoke softly the sounds that all females should know.

The next day in place of the pair was a note,
And these were the words that the young lovers wrote,
"Where there's will there's a way to a nuptial bliss. . ."
Signed. . . "Sam and Stella". . . and sealed with a kiss!

Songs For Seniors

SENIOR
(Tune: "Mother")
By George Herman

"S" is for success in living long,
"E" is that we entered calmer seas,
"N" is for the nation that we built strong,
"P" is for our isle of blessed ease,
"O" is for the old songs of tender meaning,
"R" is root in life that keeps us young,
Put them all together, they spell SENIOR.
A word that rings a happy gong.

MERRY LAUGHS
(Tune: "Funiculi, Funicula")
By George Herman

You bet that all the retired folks around here,
Show that we're glad, show that we're glad!
It's true that our golden age is one of cheer,
We don't act sad, we don't act sad!

We laugh, laugh out hah-hah for we are singing,
Laugh out hah-had, again hah-hah!
Let's fill the room with chuckles 'til it's ringing,
Hah-hah hah-hah, hah-hah hah-hah!

Yippy, zippy, merry laughs hah-hah,
Yippy, zippy, merry laughs hah-hah,
O pleasant hah, O tonic hah,
O jolly hah, O thrilling hah. . . .
Joy is everywhere, O happy hah, hah-hah, hah-hah!

Crepes Suzette

If YOU are the proud possessor of a chafing dish, your crepes suzette can be glambeced at the table.

6 lumps sugar;
1 large orange;
1 tablespoon lemon juice;
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind;
6 tablespoons butter;
1/3 cup Cointreau or Curacao;
1/3 cup Grand Marnier crepes;
1/c cup cognac.

Rub the lumps of sugar on the orange rind. Squeeze the orange and grate the rind. Combine the sugar, orange juice, lemon juice, orange and lemon rinds and the butter in a skillet or in a flat pan of a chafing dish. Bring to a boil and add the Cointreau and Grand Marnier. Place the crepes in the pan and turn until moistened. Fold into quarters. Pour the warmed cognac over them and set aflame.

Honor Chorus Formed

About 100 fourth, fifth and sixth grade students from throughout the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District have been chosen for an All-District Elementary Honor Chorus that will be ready to perform sometime in March.

James Hull, a Los Arboles Junior High School teacher, will be director of the chorus.

Initially, Hull and Mrs. Lucille Pedego, a Fremont Junior High School teacher who coordinated the project, set out to choose about 60 children from elementary schools. During auditions, Hull said they found so many talented youngsters that they decided to expand the group to 100 voices.

Because money is not available, there is currently no vocal music program in the district's elementary schools, but Hull is hopeful the Honor Chorus Program will be successful enough to encourage development of a program.

"We hope this will be first step toward demonstrating how much talent is available in our schools and that there should be a vocal music program in the elementary schools," he stated.

Students singing in the chorus are doing so on their own time and parents are responsible for transportation.

Hull said if an All-City Festival is organized in April he plans to have the new Honor Chorus perform here. Otherwise, there are no specific performance dates as of now.

Any community organizations interested in having the children perform, once they are ready, can contact Hull or Mrs. Pedego at their respective schools.

Receives Highest Rank

Cadet Richard Inokuchi of Seaside headed the list of 18 in the Army ROTC Program at the University of California at Davis who were recently promoted by Brigadier General Constant C. Delwiche, commanding general of the 91st Division (Tng), USA and Colonel Bruce M. Arswell, professor and chairman of the department of military science.

Inokuchi, the Cadet Brigade Commander, was promoted to Cadet Colonel, the highest rank.

Over half the meals consumed in the U.S. today are prepared outside the home, and fully one-third are consumed outside the home.

SWORN IN - Roseanne Decesari, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Decesari of Fort Ord has enlisted in U.S. Navy WAVES for period of three years. Roseanne had enlisted earlier in Navy's CACHE program and spent delayed entry period at home. She will undergo basic training at Bainbridge, Maryland. After basic training, she will be assigned to one of more than 21 different Navy specialty schools before reporting to duty in United States.

Housing And The Older American

Availability of housing in a great variety is imperative if the needs of the Older Citizens are to be met. Such housing should be responsive to the needs relative to health and income and not only provide shelter, but supportive services of a quality that will enable the elderly of the nation to live in comfort and dignity.

There is also a need for homemaker and health aids service, which would enable older persons to live in their own homes. These are part of the program for the Aging that President Nixon referred to in his talk to the delegates at The White House Conference on Aging in Washington, D.C. recently. Funds have been appropriated for these projects and are working well in some states.

Proposals from this conference relating to housing were many, but below are three which seem most important:

"Funds now impounded by the Administration should be released and the highly effective Section 202 of the Housing Act with its special guidelines related to space, design, construction and particularly favorable financing restored.

"A fixed proportion of all government funds (Federal, State and Local) allocated to housing and related services shall be earmarked for housing for the elderly with a minimum production of 120,000 units annually.

"When housing units for the elderly are eliminated for any reason adequate replacement units must be available and relocation programs provided before persons are displaced.

There is a great need for decent, low rent housing for the Older Citizens on this peninsula. Seaside has taken the lead in helping to provide this type of housing with the building of Villa Del Monte. A large number of the residents have moved there from other communities of the area as they were unable to find decent housing for a reasonable rent. In some of the communities of this area the Senior Citizens are forced to live in substandard houses which are dark and moldy, not properly heated and, in some cases with no proper cooking facilities. For these the landlords exact an unreasonable amount of rent plus utilities. We need some kind of inspection of rentals and controls for rental fees.

One member of the committee selected by President Nixon to review problems of the Aging which would be presented to the delegates at the Conference, was Wolf Von Echart, Urban Planning and Architecture critic for The Washington Post. He says, "I am very much opposed to segregation of the elderly. I think we have to go back to a happier state of humanity when everything was integrated by work, religion, various age groups. ## Says No Funds Are Left For EFMS

Democratic Congressional
candidate Julian Camacho said last week he learned while in Washington recently that
"there are no funds available from the Emergency Food and Medical Services Program
(EFMS) for Santa Cruz county." He made the statement during a news conference at the Governmental Center in Santa Cruz.

Community groups recently have been uncertain about the possibility of federal funding under EFMS and Camacho blamed Republican Representative Burt Talcott for "not informing the people about the status of EFMS."

"He either doesn't know about the hunger and health crises that exist here," he added, "or doesn't care."

Camacho said that last December both Houses of Congress passed a $950 million OEO authorization bill with program earmarks. $62.5 million was earmarked for EFMS.

"That bill was vetoed by the President," he said.
"Congress then passed an OEO appropriation for $741 million without earmarks.
The Office of Management and Budget authorized OEO to fund
$3.5 million for EFMS in fiscal 1972 Indian and migrant projects only."

"The EFMS funding level
for fiscal 1971 was $48.8 million," he said.

In a letter to President
Nixon and Talcott, Camacho charged that EFMS "is being arbitrarily dissolved by the Office of Management and Budget, in violation of clear congressional intent."

He also asked the Santa Cruz county Board of Supervisors to send a similar letter of protest to Nixon and Talcott.

"It seems," Camacho told reporters, "that Nixon may be playing politics with hunger.
I wouldn't be surprised to see lots of OEO monies reallocated for hunger and health
come election time."

"With so many elderly poor in this area dependent upon EFMS for decent diets and health care, it is all the more tragic that they must be the victims of presidential insensitivity."

"Clearly, it is a national shame that the federal government allows 20 to 30 billion dollars in tax breaks to the super rich each year and yet finds it necessary to cut funds for the hungry and the sick,"
Camacho said.
